Understanding Testing

As a parent, you want the best for your child and it is a painful experience to watch your child struggle. After much discussion with fellow parents, teachers, school staff, and other professionals, someone likely suggested that you have your child "tested" to better understanding their learning challenges. This, in and of itself, can be a daunting undertaking. This talk will focus on what to expect during and from the assessment process, as well as help you to better understand the results of the testing so that you can best advocate for and help your child.

SPEAKER: Michelle Beard

DATE: February 8, 2019

Dyslexia Simulation

Students with dyslexia frequently experience feelings of anxiety, frustration, and failure. This simulation guides you through reading, listening, and handwriting activities in a way that allows you to experience a sense of the struggles and frustration that students with learning differences often face. Understanding the difficulties can help us provide more effective support.
