Neuhaus Education Center Director of Research Among Top Industry Leader to Join New York City Public Schools Literacy Advisory Council

December 2, 2022, Bellaire, TX – Neuhaus Education Center is pleased to announce that Dr. Karol Ann Moore, Director of Research/Associate Vice President of Curriculum and Instructional Design has recently joined the newly formed literacy council for New York City Public Schools to help shape the direction literacy in NYC. As a council member, Moore will be among distinguished expert in literacy, local community members, public school staff, students, and parents to help inform and guide the rollout of citywide literacy initiatives.

Dr. Moore has a wealth of training in several notable educational programs with experience as a trainer, assessor, and scorer on two sizeable grants through the U.S. Department of Education Institute of Education Sciences through Texas A&M. She received her Ph.D. in Curriculum and Instruction under the guidance of R. Malatesha Joshi from Texas A&M University.

New York City Public Schools has partnered with the Center for Public Research and Leadership (CPRL) at Columbia University to facilitate the Literacy Advisory Council. For more information about New York City Public Schools visit www.schools.nyc.gov.

###

Neuhaus Education Center is a non-profit educational organization dedicated to promoting reading success for all. For more than 40 years, Neuhaus Education Center (NEC) has been a trailblazer in solutions for overcoming obstacles to literacy, including dyslexia, and today is a nationally recognized leader in the implementation of the Science of Reading. Its professional instruction for educators, referral and resource services for families, and classes for adult learners unlock a brighter future of Literacy for All.