

Criteria
The writer of the assignment has followed all instructions precisely and completely.
The assignment has no more than two errors in spelling, grammar, or word choice that affects clarity of meaning.
The assignment is of a length that covers the topic with depth (no less than one page, and more depending on the requirements).
The assignment reflects the writer's understanding of the content and the writer's intent or experience in applying the knowledge in a teaching setting.